Honoring Indigenous Peoples' Day: Panel and Dinner

Monday, October 14
5:00-6:30pm
Stamm West

In honor of Indigenous Peoples' Day 2024, we encourage all to attend and be in solidarity with our community as we engage in learning from a panel of Native leaders and L&C alumni for our "Native Activism panel in Support of Indigenous Peoples' Day."

Panelists will be asked to speak on how they have participated in activism, what learning opportunities to pass along, and how to stay present when change takes time.

Dinner will be provided!

Native Activism Panel in Support of Indigenous Peoples' Day

Reconnecting Roots in Modern America - Wokeshop

Thursday, October 17
4:00-5:00pm
Fowler 236

Come be a part of a conversation about the experiences of immigrants and children of immigrants, and what it means to live between two worlds. Whether you're sharing your own story or listening to others, this event offers a welcoming space for reflection, connection, and celebrating the rich diversity of the immigrant journey in the U.S.

GEM Gathering: Hike & Brunch!

Saturday, October 19
10:00am-12:00pm
Meet at Pio bus stop

Join mentors Sofia and Julian on a fun hike with brunch! The hike will take about an hour. Please wear appropriate attire. The trail provides a nice balance -- enough to enjoy the outdoors and get some fresh air without being overly tiring.

The hike will be followed with brunch at the Bon with food from Grand Central Bakery.

The poster is green with white text and illustrations of flowers. It features the IME logo in the top right corner. The title 'HIKE & BRUNCH' is in large, bold, white letters. Below the title, the date and time 'Saturday, October 19th, 10 AM - 12 PM' are listed. A detailed illustration of various flowers and leaves occupies the middle section. Below the illustration, the text describes the hike and brunch, and provides contact information for questions and RSVPs.

Calling all First-Generation & STEM-interested students!

Dr. Kayla Puente and Dr. Lina Darwich from Lewis & Clark College are recruiting participants for a research study about social and emotional learning and STEM motivation among first-generation college students. This study may help us to better understand the overlaps between social and emotional learning and STEM motivation in students' persistence in STEM.

Please contact Kayla Puente at kpunte@lclark.edu or (503) 768-7528 for any questions.
